

WHERE Room S4,
Palais des Nations,
Geneva

WHEN
Friday 13 March 2020
9:00-12:00

NHRIs as a critical enabler for accountability in sport: Workshop on sport and human rights

NHRIs have a critical role in enabling sport bodies to confront and work through the numerous human rights challenges they face. These challenges can range from forced labour to ensuring that sporting venues are open and inclusive environments, and from child safeguarding to privacy rights surrounding an event broadcast.

Many of these issues have been tackled by NHRIs in other sectors, meaning NHRIs have a unique opportunity to lend their expertise to the sport sector to help create a world of sport that truly respects human rights.

Please join us for a half-day workshop, hosted by the Centre for Sport and Human Rights which will explore the key areas of overlap between sport and human rights, and opportunities for NHRIs to play an active role.

An agenda will be shared shortly.

REGISTER NOW

Registration Instructions:

Please note that registration is being managed through the United Nations online system (INDICO).

Step 1: Participants are required to create an INDICO account if they do not have one already.

Step 2: Once you have created an INDICO user account, you will receive a confirmation email to your inbox asking you to confirm your new account.

Step 3: Click the link on the confirmation screen to open the registration page for the workshop and submit the required fields of information.

Step 4: The organisers will confirm your place shortly after receiving the registration. If you are experiencing difficulties registering, please contact alison.biscoe@sporthumanrights.org